Good Bread is never produced from in-ferior flour—everybody knows that. The toundation of good flour is choice selected wheat. Machinery, method and "know-how" are all important in the making of a relia-ble, uniform brand like "Pilisbury's Best." There are other good brands of flour, but "Pilis-bury's Best" is always best and brings the best price.

MRS. STUART'S MODELS.

She Says She Does Not Have to Live

Ruth McEnery Stuart, the clever short story writer, in talking of her field from which she has drawn her charac-ters, says: "You know Mr. Stuart own-ed two sugar plantations down in Arkansas then, and my models were right around me, for of course all his 'han's' felt they owned us.

"We didn't live on either of the plantations, but in the little town near by, and I can see all those darkies now, riding in on their mules, hitching them to the mulberry trees in our yard, sitting in rows upon our front steps, 'restin' and 'foolin roun generally.

''Some old 'aunty' would surely come walking in every morning with a bat-tered tin pail on her arm, filled with perfectly worthless berries, gathered by the wayside, not to sell, but 'ter swap fur jes' a leetle flour, please, ma'am, an a pincher butter, honey, an a couple er lumps er sugar, please, ma'am, Mis'

"Then there was an old 'uncle' who used to sit silently fishing all day long in a shallow pool, with his underlip stuck out phenomenally far, even for a negro, who, when any one asked him. 'Say, uncle, what's that you've got in your mouth?' would reply laconically, 'Wums,' and shut his tongue down upon his imprisoned 'bait' again.
"Do I miss such 'material' up here?

Not at all. I find that in looking back upon these old friends of mine their dusky figures stand out more and more clearly against the glow of tender reminiscence beside what types we have here at our door in Gotham."—New York Correspondent.

Tough Job For Small Men. The occupation of a boiler inspector is one in which a man cannot grow fat without losing his job, and perhaps is a funny business in that respect. Each boiler inspected is drained of its con tents, and then the inspector rigs him self for a dirty job and wriggles himself into the inside of it through the manhole. This aperture cannot well be made large enough to admit a large man, hence the smallest sized fellows have the monopoly of the business. But though that fact may be funny, the business itself, getting into dirty and stifling places and wriggling like a human worm into every hole and corner to know its real condition, is anything but fun. The most scrupulous care is required in these examinations, and as everything is out of sight, the insurance company have to depend wholly upon the trustworthiness of their men. Hence these get pay that makes amends for all they have to undergo, sufficient, indeed, to keep them from getting too big for their business!—Lewiston Journal.
